The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sopko.

Applicant's effective date is considered to be the US filing date of the instant application, as the embodiment to which the claims are directed is not disclosed in the parent applications. Note the embodiment shown in Figs. 14-16 of Sopko, employing a wire clip exerting a torsional load on the extending arms that engage anchors 186.

Regarding claim 2, any slot between adjacent rows of fins 164 of Sopko is readable on the claimed "channel" in the upper surface of claim 2.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Cheon shows a spring clip applied to clamp a liquid cooling module to a component. The remaining references of record show various attachment clip designs for heat sinks.
